Minister's Letter

I am not sure that the nature of the office of churchwarden is fully understood in this parish. It is a very ancient office, and has a civic aspect to it, as well as being a role within the church. This is reflected by the people who are entitled to attend and vote at the meeting at which church wardens are appointed every year. It isn't just the people who have indicated an interest in church matters and taken the necessary steps to get onto the church electoral roll. Anyone who is on the local government register of electors and is resident in the parish is entitled not only to turn up at the meeting and vote for their preferred candidate, but also to nominate people for appointment. People on the civil register of electors are also entitled to challenge the result of the election of a church warden, if they believe there was an irregularity in the procedure at the meeting.

There are further criteria to be met before a person can be nominated to the office. They must be over 21 years of age, baptised communicants, on the ecclesiastical electoral role of the parish concerned and not disqualified, again under civil law, from being a charity trustee. And also they must consent to be nominated!

However, my point is that filling the office of church warden should be of interest not just to those who are regular church attenders, but to everyone in the parish. Sadly, this interest was not reflected in the attendance at our annual meeting in April. Only a minority of the people on the church electoral roll actually attended, and no one who was solely qualified to attend by virtue of being on the local government register of electors in our parish was there.

As I said in an earlier article for this magazine, we are greatly in need of some younger people to join the present church wardens, and in due course take over from them. It is particularly important now, as the parish begins its search for someone to take my place when I retire later this year. One of the things which will dissuade potential applicants is the suspicion that they may end up in a parish without functioning church wardens.

You may not be qualified under the above criteria to volunteer for this post yourself, but if you are on the local government register of electors you are entitled to be part of the arm twisting which seems to be necessary to get people to take on civic responsibilities these days. It should be much easier to persuade two or three people to accept a nomination, since they will know there will be other people to help them, and they won't bear the responsibility alone.

So, over to you! Get your thinking caps on: who needs to be persuaded to take on this role?

Care Deeply

Listening to our communities to serve them and to challenge injustice

But seek the welfare of the city where I have sent you into exile, and pray to the Lord on its behalf, for in its welfare you will find your welfare - Jeremiah 29:7

In preparation for my move later this year, I am beginning to sort through all kinds of paperwork accumulated not just in the 10 years that I have been living in Cumbria, but in more than 40 years of ordained ministry. I recently came across a piece of paper, probably compiled soon after I arrived in the parish, on which I had noted statistics from the 2011 census. The data from the 2021 census has been available for a while now, so I thought it would be interesting to see how the parish has changed between the two census years.

There is a caveat: the census districts from which the data is derived do not map exactly onto parish council boundaries, and I think the source of my information about the 2021 census was one step removed from the government agency which publishes the figures.

One surprise was that the population of Lamplugh civil parish dropped significantly over that period, from 805 in 2011 to 745 in 2021. (I imagine the population will have increased since 2021 as more of the houses in the Millfields development have been occupied.) Ennerdale and Kinniside civil parish showed a slight increase from 220 to 226.

Perhaps less surprising was the fact that the people who live here have been getting older. In 2011 across both parishes 187 people were aged 65 and over. By 2021 this had increased to 267. Also in line with current trends was a decline in religiosity. In 2011 274 people either stated they had no religion or failed to answer that question (which if I remember correctly is an optional question); by 2021 that number had increased to 362. In 2011 everyone who claimed a religious affiliation was a Christian, but by 2021 there were 12 people who claimed that they followed a religion other than Christianity, alongside the 554 who claimed to be Christian.

But while statistics are interesting, our call is to care for people, who are always more than the sum of information gathered about them in censuses and other surveys. So there is no substitute for getting to know our neighbours, in all their glorious individuality.

Praying for the Parish June 2025

The Church Council has decided that we should be more intentional in praying for our parish.

In more urban areas churches often list particular streets that are being prayed for that week / month. That obviously isn't possible in a scattered rural area, so we have divided the parish into 12 areas, one for each month. The list is not set in stone; we can tweak it if anyone feels left out.

To start us off, for the month of June we are praying for:

Homes, farms and businesses between Ennerdale village and the head of the valley.

The image shows a promotional graphic for Mitchells Estate Agency. The background is a grayscale landscape of rolling hills and valleys. At the top, the word "Mitchells" is written in a large, bold, sans-serif font. To the right of "Mitchells" is the text "SINCE 1873" in a smaller font. Below "Mitchells" is the text "ESTATE AGENCY" in a smaller, all-caps font. A thick horizontal line is positioned below "ESTATE AGENCY". Below this line is a quote: "'We provide a wide range of professional services to the rural community in North and West Cumbria'". Below the quote is a list of services: "Residential Sales via Private Treaty", "Agricultural Land & Farm Valuations", "Probate Valuations", and "Advice on Future Planning". At the bottom left, there is a phone icon followed by the number "01900 822016" and an email icon followed by the address "info@mitchellsestateagency.co.uk".

GOING GREEN GRACEFULLY No. 49 (the penultimate one!)

Jetting Off? Energy-saving at home...

As spring rolls round to summer, with the day length increasing and the temperatures rising, those summer holidays that you've booked move ever closer, and the anticipation mounts as you look forward to actually having a proper holiday!

Still, leaving your home for a week or two needs a bit of planning – not least with regard to the energy you use. How many times have you stood in line at the airport and that worrying thought has jumped into your head: “Did I turn the hot water off?” So, here's an easy gem of advice: make a checklist!

- Unplug everything before you leave home – toaster, kettle, electric toothbrush, TV, etc. - go round the house and check. In fact, leaving sockets unplugged reduces the risk of an electrical fault and fire.
- Fridge/freezer – maybe this is a great opportunity to defrost them? If you can plan ahead, a week or two ideally, use up what's in them, defrost them and leave the doors open (and switched off) while you're away – saves a bundle of energy!
- If that's not a runner, your fridge/freezer is more efficient when it's full, so stock up the freezer with stuff you'll eat when you get back, and turn the thermostat down a notch, as you won't be opening the door – that'll save you energy (and money!).
- You won't need the heating or the hot water on, while you're away, so switch them off! In our modern world, many folks can control these systems from their phones, so you can switch on the hot water on your way home!
- Of course, other things like lights depend on your regime (whether you want lights cycling on and off while you're away) and turning your water stopcock off in case there's a leak (that happened to our son!) - that can save a massive headache!

Anyway, following some simple tips can give you both peace of mind, while you're away, as well as saving both money and your energy output while you're off having fun. Enjoy some much-needed downtime, when you reach that red-letter day!

Humour!

Submitted by Mary Johnson

During the month of April a speaker came to take the morning service at Kirkland Mission and started the service with a most unexpected question by saying, "Put your hand up if you think we should expect to laugh in church." As I was seated at the front I couldn't see who agreed with the idea but it did make me think about how much humour is part of all of our lives. Even a baby starts to smile at a month old and soon chuckles follow.

British humour carries along with it a strong element of satire aimed at the absurdity of life. It can include sarcasm, tongue-in-cheek, banter, insults, self deprecation, taboo subjects, puns, innuendo, wit, and the British class system. These are often accompanied by a deadpan delivery and Les Dawson comes to mind. Many British series have become successful internationally serving as a representation of our British culture to overseas audiences.

We all have our favourite comedians and sitcoms covering all the aspects we find within the world of humour - comedians such as Stan Laurel, Norman Wisdom, Gracie Fields, Tony Hancock, Tommy Cooper, Dawn French, Morcambe and Wise, Pam Ayres, Benny Hill, The Two Ronnies, Victoria Wood, and of course Ken Dodd who held his audience to ransom until he decided it was time to finish the night. And the old sitcoms like Dads Army still give us a laugh today and such as To The Manor Born, The Good Life, Yes Minister, Black Adder, On The Buses, and Game For A Laugh, also Candid Camera to add to the list. Of course there are many others that we enjoyed, but we have many others coming along to entertain us today.

Does God have a sense of humour? The answer is "yes," and we can see it in the creations he has made, especially of animals and our pets that have such characters. In the Bible's Old Testament we are told that there is a time to laugh. It does us good to enjoy a good laugh because it does our spirit, soul, and body good. We know of the saying that laughter is the best medicine, and science has proven why the bible tells us to laugh and that it is good for our health.

An Anglican priest steps into the pulpit to deliver a sermon and taps the microphone to see if it is on. There is no sound and, frustrated, she taps again, but still no sound. She makes a commotion trying to get the microphone to work: tap, tap, tap. Finally she explains to the congregation, "Something is wrong with this microphone." Instantly the congregation responds, in unison, "And also with you!"

The Gather Ennerdale Redesign Project Update

Many of you will be aware that we have proposed a series of updates for the Gather in Ennerdale Bridge, focussed primarily on updating the kitchen facilities. We engaged a local firm of architects to help with the new design in the latter part of last year, and the plans were submitted to the Lake District National Park for their consideration.

You can view the full application using the reference “7/2025/4015” on the LDNPA’s Planning Portal (use this link: <https://planning.agileapplications.co.uk/ldnpa>). Alternatively, paper copies of the plans are available to view at The Gather.

We are delighted to announce that those plans have been approved by the LDNP, and we can move forward with getting construction plans produced, and contractors appointed.

To support the implementation of the redesign, we will be rolling out a program of fundraising events over the coming months, and we hope you will enjoy participating in any, or all, of these events.

The Gather plays a huge part in both our local and wider community, and we look forward to developing the facilities so we can all continue to enjoy the benefits of having a meeting place, a community hub, and a very popular and well regarded cafe long into the future.

We look forward to your continued support, and hope you will join us in the activities stretching on in the coming months.

Jude Wildwood writes:

Building on the Quaker tradition of “silent waiting”, this informal grouping will sit together for 40 minutes in stillness. Such “silent waiting” can lead us down into ourselves, to reconnect with a quiet, wise core self; to experience a strength, wisdom and serenity we’re not normally aware of.

There will be a selection of spiritual writings available to help you enter your own stillness, if you need it.

By coming once, you are not making any ongoing commitment; so please come along and explore whether this group stillness holds anything of significance for you.

This is an informal grouping, and is open to people from all faith traditions - or none.

Beavers at Ennerdale
Hayley Dauben
Species Reintroduction Project Officer at Forestry England

Full article: <https://www.forestryengland.uk/ennerdale/beavers>

Since 2019, Forestry England have aspired to release beavers into Ennerdale Valley in Cumbria. Early plans for a partial beaver enclosure were paused in October 2023 because there were concerns about the proposed metal grill across the lower River Liza and its potential to deter salmon and trout from passing to their spawning grounds upstream. Therefore, a beaver release directly into the wild was not an available option at that time.

On 28th February 2025, the Government announced a two-step licensing process to allow beavers to be released into the wild. The first step is an “expression of interest” that requires a high-level statement against each of the nine wild release criteria. This process avoids applicants, Natural England and other stakeholders investing time on full applications that are unlikely to secure a licence in the first round of applications. Only those projects deemed most viable will be invited to make a full application. This will help manage beaver reintroductions at a measured pace.

Forestry England has submitted an “expression of interest” for a wild beaver release into Ennerdale, with support from other Wild Ennerdale partnership organisations (National Trust, United Utilities and Natural England), and expect to receive a response by early July 2025. If successful, Forestry England will engage with those likely to be affected by the proposals from this point.

Share your thoughts

Each catchment and each property will experience beavers differently. Please help Forestry England develop a comprehensive, site-specific management plan that is practical and relevant to the River Ehen catchment.

- Do you own, live on, work on, or spend your free time on land in the River Ehen catchment with a river, stream or ditch that might be affected by beavers?
- Are there areas on your property where you would welcome co-existence with beavers?
- Do you have infrastructure, vegetation, land use or activities that could be impacted by beavers?

If Forestry England are invited to apply for a licence, the points you raise will inform the next steps in the engagement. For further information, please contact:

We are a traditional Lakeland inn located in the beautiful Lakeland valley of Ennerdale, approximately 1.5 miles from Ennerdale Water. Situated in the centre of the village opposite the St. Mary's church and over one of three small bridges in the village. We have three comfortable spacious en-suite bedrooms, each with a bath and shower. We offer a large secluded beer garden combined with a cosy bar, with two welcoming log fires. We have an excellent selection of local ales and offer hearty traditional pub food cooked on the premises from locally sourced ingredients. And we are dog friendly!

We have worked hard over the last seven years to build up our reputation to the point that to avoid disappointment table bookings are now necessary at all times.
